Press Release

Duffy Electric Boats is proud to announce the launch of the Duffy M240. Duffy's latest zero-emissions bay and lake cruiser is bound to make a huge splash. The M240 Hybrid is a sleek, sporty-looking electric pontoon-style craft with a patented M-shaped hull.

Newport Beach, CA, September 17, 2008: "We designed this boat specifically to incorporate the tremendous stability benefits of the M Ship Company's M-hull, explains Marshall "Duffy" Duffield. "Every pontoon boat on the market tends to pearl and squat (dip its bow and stern into the water) with a full passenger load while under way. The M-hull eliminates that, and provides extra side-to-side stability for a far more comfortable ride."

Powered by a pair of 48-volt emissions-free electric motors mounted inside Duffy's patented Power Rudder drive systems, the M240 is built to cruise the bay all day and charge overnight. This craft can also be equipped with a special top featuring built-in solar charging panels. Wind-generators are also an option on this boat model. One of the first official "hybrid" electric boats of its kind, the M240 can be equipped with a 2KW generator for battery charging while under way. An impressive selection of standard features and options make the M240 one of the best-equipped, most comfortable bay cruisers to hit the water. No other boating experience makes enjoying the water this effortless.
